

FIELD CLERKS GET BOOST UNDER NEW ACT OF CONGRESS

Men Who Have Served Twelve Years With Quartermaster Corps Affected

QUARTERMASTER GENERAL ISSUES RULING ON LAW

Measure Will Give Commutation of Quarters As Well As Pay

Advice received by the department quartermaster, yesterday, from the office of the quartermaster-general, Washington, announces the decision of the quartermaster-general, as approved by the judge advocate-general of the Army, as to qualifications, service, the method of computation of such service of clerks who are eligible to be rated as field clerks, Quartermaster Corps.

Under the Act of August 29, provision was made that "not to exceed two hundred clerks, Quartermaster Corps, who shall have had twelve years of service, at least three years of which shall have been on detached duty away from permanent station, or duty beyond the continental limits of the United States or both, shall be known as field clerks, Quartermaster Corps, and shall be subject to the Rules and Articles of War."

The acting quartermaster-general of the army in his effort to interpret the law on the subject, as above quoted, states: "In the opinion of this office this provision establishes a distinct class of clerks in the Quartermaster Corps, to be known as 'Field Clerks, Quartermaster Corps,' and it will be necessary to reappoint and designate such clerks as are eligible for the new grade."

The views of this office on the provision above quoted are as follows, and it is recommended that they receive the approval of the secretary of war:

(a) Twelve years of service. This is construed to mean service as a clerk classified or unclassified, in the Quartermaster's Department-at-Large, Subsistence Department-at-Large, and Quartermaster Corps-at-Large, only. It does not include service in any bureau of the war department, or in any other government department or office, or service in the army, navy or Marine Corps, Foreign Duty Office.

(b) At least three years of which (twelve years of service) shall have been on detached duty away from permanent station, or duty beyond the continental limits of the United States, or both. This is construed to mean that the period of all temporary detachment from permanent station which involves return to permanent station after completion of the temporary duty, the period of all service in the field with troops, and the period of all service beyond the continental limits of the United States shall be counted. If service beyond the continental limits of the United States as a clerk in the Quartermaster's Department-at-Large, Subsistence Department-at-Large, or Quartermaster Corps-at-Large, totals in the aggregate, three years or more, eligibility is established without considering detached service. If detached or service in the field with troops, or both, within the continental limits of the United States, aggregate three years or more, eligibility is established without considering detached service. If detached, or service in the field with troops, or both, within the continental limits of the United States, aggregate three years or more, eligibility is established without considering detached service. If detached, or service in the field with troops, or both, within the continental limits of the United States, aggregate three years or more, eligibility is established without considering detached service.

The judge advocate-general of the army, in expressing his approval of the foregoing translation by the quartermaster-general, on the point of law in question, states:

"I think the foregoing views of the acting quartermaster-general under both (a) and (b) as to the eligibility of the clerks of the Quartermaster Corps to appointment as field clerks of the Quartermaster Corps are correct, and I concur in his recommendation that authority be granted to publish the same in a circular of his office."

The interpretation of the law on the subject was gratefully received by the clerks of the local quartermaster's office yesterday, and every one was busy with pencil and paper figuring up his service to find if he came within the requirements of the act. Just how many men of the local office will be affected, has not yet been definitely settled, but it is presumed that quite a number are eligible. The one important feature of the act, and its most magnetic feature, is that all such clerks of the Quartermaster Corps who become field clerks in that corps, will receive the allowances formerly provided for pay clerks of the Quartermaster Corps, which means that they will draw commutation of quarters, heat and light, amounting in a total of about twenty-eight dollars a month.

Nothing has as yet been received at department headquarters as to the status of the headquarters clerks and messengers, but it is expected that the new law will bring some cheering news.

KAAI REGISTRATION OF VOTERS INCREASES

County Clerk J. M. Kanehwa kept his office open until twelve o'clock last Tuesday night for the registration of voters, says Tuesday's Garden Island of Lihue, Kauai. At the close 1358 names were on the great register. In the last election a little more than 1100 voted, out of a total of 1250. Eliminating known absences, etcetera, it is figured that the actual vote in the primary will be around 1100.

Mainland Hotel Company Seeks Site Near Beach

Ainahu Among Other Sea Side Properties Offered Big Eastern Corporation

"Every mail brings many inquiries for Honolulu real estate from prospective mainland buyers," one of the land dealers said yesterday. "This is a development which may surprise residents of Honolulu. There is every indication of considerable developments in the real estate trade within a very short time."

"These mainland inquiries are for two classes of property, first class downtown business sites and hotel locations. When the average American thinks of coming to Hawaii to spend the winter there is just one thing he has in mind and that is the beach. One of the largest hotel companies in New York City has recently been given options on three of the finest (Waikiki) beach properties at prices ranging from $25,000 to $300,000. They wrote to one of the big commercial companies here stating that they are seriously considering adding a Honolulu hotel to the chain of hotels which they control in all the big cities, and summer and winter resorts in the United States. Their references are A1 and there is every reason to believe that they mean business. Ainahu is one of the properties which has been offered them. What the owners are I am not at liberty to state."

TESTIMONY OF MEAT MAN IS INTERESTING

Silbert J. Waller Jr. Makes Good Witness At Inter-Island Rate Hearing

Silbert J. Waller Jr., secretary of the Hawaii Meat Company, Ltd., was the chief witness at yesterday's session of the hearings being held by the public utilities commission on the proposal of the Inter Island Steam Navigation Company to increase freight rates between the islands.

Waller made a good witness as well as an interesting one. He had a mass of facts and figures to give to the commission and was ready with an answer to each of the showers of questions poured upon him.

He had a kick against the service rendered by the Inter-Island company, and did not hesitate to say so. He has complained several times to the management of the company, he told the commissioners, regarding the injury done to cattle shipped in the boats of the line, but had rarely obtained redress.

One Case Is Instanced

He instanced one case which happened a few weeks. A shipment of cattle was turned over to him from the Mikahala. There were twenty-five of them, and two were crippled so badly that they were unable to stand when they left the pens in the boat, and another was dead.

The witness said that he had taken this matter up with the company, having complained to Vice-President McLean personally about it, but aside from a promise to "look into the matter" the meat company had "received no satisfaction."

Charles R. Forbes, chairman of the commission, exhibited curiosity as to what had become of the two crippled animals and the one which was killed in transit. The cripples were taken to the local slaughter house, said Waller, where they were killed and put on the market at a reduced rate. The third animal had been made into tallow and country food.

Waller took an opportunity to gently ask Dr. J. H. Raymond, veterinarian of Maui, who had preceded him on the stand the day before, The Maui man's slaughter house system, which he doctor had praised so highly the day before, also got a little dig from Waller.

The witness read the commission letter dated last February and April, 1915, in which the Hawaii Meat Company and complained about "color ad meat" received from Doctor Raymond, and also about shipments which had been otherwise unsatisfactory.

The commission yesterday also made public a letter from Governor Brigham regarding the Kaui railway rates. The Governor believes that that matter will be settled satisfactorily now that the Kaui and Maui plantations have pooled their interests, and says that he is willing to grant the request for a railway license. He adds:

"I am inclined to believe that the rates and transportation question on Maui will be solved as soon as the price of steel becomes normal, for the control of private corporation lands having passed into friendly hands the probability of an independent organization to act as common carriers seems to be assured with a terminus at Hanalei or, in case a breakwater is there built, at Nawiliwili."

"As this will meet the object we have been for two years contending for, your difficulties may not be as serious as at first appeared."

Uniforms Here and Rifles Go To Border Line

War Department Orders Reserve Supply Cut in Two For Troops Watching Mexicans

Either Uncle Sam is hard up and has to rob Peter to pay Paul, or the situation along the Mexican border is worse than the censorship is allowing it to appear. At any rate, whatever is the trouble, the already meagre reserve of uniform equipment and rifles held in these islands for the use of the garrison is to be cut in two and the half of it is to be sent at once to the Rio Grande.

This is the word which reaches Hawaii from the mainland, the information being that twenty-five hundred uniforms and rifles from the Hawaiian reserve stock are wanted for the use of the troops on the border and are to be taken away from Honolulu by the first transport.

Just why the war department should reach into the small reserve here to help out the border shortage is not apparent. The mainland manufacturers could turn out twenty-five hundred small arms and an equal number of service uniforms in the time it will take to ship these to San Francisco from Honolulu, and it has not been made plain that the war department is broke and cannot afford to buy these few equipments.

These uniforms and guns were shipped here at government expense. Now they are to be shipped back at government expense, and a little later they, or an equal number of others, will have to be shipped back to Honolulu again, still at government expense. Provided the uniforms do not get worn out traveling, they should reach the border before the end of the month, in time for that already predicted October invasion of Mexico.

In the meanwhile the National Guard of Hawaii is disintegrating for the lack of a couple of thousand uniforms and rifles.

SOMME FIGHT NOT BIG ALLIED 'PUSH'

Australians Say Real Blow By Britain Will Not Come For Months

"We are returning home tremendously impressed with what we have seen of Britain's preparation to carry the war through to a successful conclusion," said one prominent member of the Australian parliamentary party, which passed through Honolulu on the Makura yesterday on its way home after attending the recent Imperial conference in London.

The party is composed of representatives of the various political factions of the Commonwealth, conservatives, radicals and labor unionists, who in England were given every opportunity to see what is being done in the way of preparation for greater fighting to come. A number of the party visited the fighting lines in France and observed the men of the Anzac under war conditions.

"The British have done great things during the past few months," said the leader before quoted, who asked that he be not quoted by name, "but all that they have done is only a commencement of what they are prepared to do."

"This offensive on the Somme, although it is throwing the Germans back wherever the British thrusts are made, is not the blow England is prepared to strike. The real blow will not come for some months yet, but when it falls the world be shaken by the force of it."

MRS. KNIGHT VISITS GRAVE OF DAUGHTER

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Knight who left here for Hawaii some days ago is personally superintending the placing of an urn over the tomb of her daughter, Annie Thelma Parker Smart, who died two years ago last February.

Word to this effect reached here yesterday. It was known that Mrs. Knight intended taking her young grandson, Richard Smart, who is three years old, to the tomb of the lad's mother, but the rest of her plan had been kept secret.

Mrs. Knight made the trip to Hawaii with this idea in view, and it is said she intends returning to the mainland as soon as possible after the ceremony of placing the urn.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS QUARANTINE IS ENDED

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) NEW YORK, October 5.—Following the initiative of the state health authorities in removing the embargo on the children of New York City, which had prevented them from leaving the city, the city health authorities yesterday declared the quarantine because of infantile paralysis at an end. This does not mean that the epidemic has been stamped out or has run out of itself, as the records of the twenty-four hours ending at midnight show that there were yesterday twenty-three new cases reported, with the day's death toll amounting to seven.

BRITONS SUPREME UPON PACIFIC AM OF COLONISTS NOW

Delegate To Imperial Conference On Way Home Speaks of Immense Project

BIG COLONIAL NAVY TO BE PART OF THE SCHEME

Canada, New Zealand, Australia and South Africa To Form Combination

Britain first and supreme in the Pacific. A combination between Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, with the object of maintaining a navy to guard the enormous interests of these three British colonies, and a closer interworking of trade relations between them was the scheme hinted at by Hon. Patrick and Imperial Ocean, a native of Ireland, but a resident and prominent attorney of Australia, while here on board the Makura yesterday.

Mr. Glynn was a member of the Australian delegation which recently attended the Imperial Conference, held in London to discuss the questions that concern the far flung British empire and which will have to be solved after the great war is over.

Canada and Australia, as well as New Zealand are already "doing their bit" in the way of a navy, as Mr. Glynn expressed it, but there remains much more to be done before the results hoped for can be secured, he said in Vancouver.

Defense of Empire

Mr. Glynn had a good deal to say regarding the question of the defense of the British and Imperial Commonwealth. He went into the history in detail of what Australia had done in the way of contributing to the Imperial exchequer for the maintenance of the navy since the year 1891 and the agreement that had been entered into with the Imperial Government for the supply of vessels for the Australian station.

This led up to the question that eventually Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Canada would have to assume control of the Pacific Ocean by an agreement with the British Government, but he questioned it now was the right time when an Empire Parliament could be formed to take into consideration the subject that had arisen since the war started.

Some of the suggestions that had been made at the Paris conference and other conferences that had taken place were not, in his opinion feasible, and he believed the best method would be to place the entire matter in the hands of men who were prepared to draw up several schemes for future consideration.

Australia's Fleet Is Growing

Coming down to the year 1903, when an agreement between Australia and Britain was renewed in regard to naval matters, a discussion took place regarding the question of whether Australia should not have a fleet of its own. That was the policy by statute, providing for a local fleet, some of which would be built in Australia, but the greater number in England.

The first contribution in 1903 was $200,000, which was increased to $300,000 a year, and $500,000 a year for New Zealand.

"We are now building up an addition to our fleet and are ordering vessels, which will take us up to the year 1932, making allowance for the change in the style of warships. We have decided on fifty vessels, eight of which will be of the Australia class."

"This practically means that we will have a naval expense of $25,000,000 a year, which will be increased if necessary. Of course, while this will be an Australian fleet, it will be under the control of the admiralty. It is our ambition to join in with New Zealand and ultimately with the Cape and Canada, and to form one grand Pacific fleet, supplemented by vessels from the imperial navy."

Rate Per Capita Small

Mr. Glynn mentioned the rate per capita on the white population of the countries he enumerated, showing that the rate in Canada was all, while in Australia it was from fifteen to sixteen killings or about $3.25.

"My opinion is that if Canada adopts the method of Australia to acquire a fleet, and expends a large amount of money there will be no necessity for creating a new Imperial parliament to deal with this subject. Defense will be the prime matter to be dealt with by any parliament."

"Assuming that some form of Imperial union was brought about on matters to be dealt with, the question really to be dealt with would be defense, if not otherwise accomplished, foreign policy, foreign relations of more than local import, spheres of influence affecting all the dominions, such as some of the islands on the Pacific coast, and the relation of Australia and New Zealand to the islands of the Pacific."

REV. OKUMURA'S SON DIES IN FAR JAPAN

Rev. T. Okumura, pastor of the Makiki Japanese Christian Church, received a telegram yesterday announcing the death of one of his sons, Teishiki, in Chikuzaki, Japan. Teishiki was born in Honolulu and went to Japan last year for his health. Mrs. Okumura was at her son's bedside at his death, she having left Honolulu several weeks ago when Teishiki's serious condition became known to his parents in Honolulu.

KAMEHAMEHA TEAM IS WORKING HARD

Footballers Practising Twice a Day For Contest Saturday With Punahou

The Kamehameha Schools are putting forth every effort to round their football team into shape by Saturday, when they meet the Punahou eleven on the Kamehameha field.

The squad is going through scrimgage twice a day, in the morning and again in the afternoon, and reports from the school state that the fast aggregation will be in condition to give the Academy men a hard go.

Many of the old men of last year are back in harness and have shown even greater ability than formerly. C. Bertman, will be seen again at center, and this solid pivot man will be hard to shoot plays through.

Hanny and Downer, two men who made reputations for themselves last year at the wings, have been put back of the line. Their speed and knowledge of the game displayed itself immediately, and they fitted right into the half back job. This necessitated the development of two new ends, A. Siamena and Hubba are now working on the wings and give promise of holding down the places.

Delaney and Eaton are making good in the backfield.

Kamehameha has been handicapped this year by lack of teams to scrimmage against. Last year a solid team was sent against them every night, but so far, they have had to divide the first squad and pit them against each other.

MIYAKE AND WILLIAMS TO MEET IN JU JITSU

Bout Will Be Staged October Thirteenth; Both Work Hard

The challenge issued by Tarro Miyake, the ju-jitsu champion of the world, has been accepted by E. H. Williams of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, and he will meet the evening of October 13 at the Skating Rink.

Miyake had little trouble with his last opponent, but followers of the game seem to feel that Williams will make a much different showing against the Japanese. In the last match, between Miyake and Kuma, two styles of wrestling were used, but in this contest both men will use the ju-jitsu form.

The winner must get the best two out of three falls. Each fall will be ten minutes in length. In case neither man has given up at the end of the ten minutes, that fall shall be considered a draw. Assuming that neither is able to get two falls in the thirty minutes, the bout will go until one or the other gets two falls.

There will be two preliminaries to the main bout; both of them under the catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) EUREKA, California, October 4.—A protracted debate took place today at the convention of the State Federation of Labor on the advisability of admitting Japanese to California labor circles and organizing them separately. PHILADELPHIA, October 3.—The race in the American League came to an end yesterday, when the Philadelphia Quakers lost both games to the Boston Braves, and Brooklyn defeated the New York Giants, which gave the Robins the National League pennant. This is the first time in sixteen years that a pennant in the National League has gone to Brooklyn. Away back in 1900 the flag was secured by the Dodgers under the leadership of Ed Hamilton.

The world's series will start on Saturday. The first game of the series will be played on the Boston field. The second game will be played on the same field on Monday. On Tuesday and Wednesday the third and fourth games will be played on the Brooklyn diamond. The national league commission selected the Boston Braves field, which is the national league park, because of its large seating capacity. Fenway park, where the American league games have been played will accommodate but 20,000 people, while the Braves field is capable of seating over 42,000 spectators.

Last night the umpires for the world's series were selected. These are to be Connelly, O'Day and Quigley. Yesterday's Games

In the first game of the double-header, Richard Rudolph of the Boston Braves was responsible for the first downfall of the Quakers. He held the Puritans to eight scattered hits. His teammates got busy with the big willow in that awful seventh and tucked the game away. They pounded the Hon. E. P. Hixey Jr. so hard that Moran was forced to send him to the cooler and put in Irving Kaestner. Mayor was also sent to the hill to stop the Braves hitting base, but he too had to be jerked. Joseph Oeschger was warmed up and bespoken to the mound by Patrick and remained the rest of the game.

A number of errors by the Quakers combined with the good pitching of Rudolph did the trick. The Quakers had opportunities to score but failed to avail themselves.

Boston Takes Second

Boston, through the medium of "Lefty" Tyler stepped on the Quakers in the second game for a defeat. Tyler pitched excellent ball throughout allowing the Phils but five hits, and at the same time administering a shelling. Moran was up against a snag for pitching timber. Alexander was not in a position to go to the mound, after his feat of yesterday, and Hixey, one of his dependables, had failed to stop the Braves' mauling in the first contest. So he went Erskine Mayner back again, in the hope that the "vet" could do things. But he had to be relieved by "Chief" Bender. The Indian had little success with the slugging Braves and failed to hold them down. The Phils went to pieces and the game was won by the Braves 6 to 1.

The scores:

Philadelphia..... 1 6 4

Brooklyn Wins Giants

BROOKLYN, October 3.—While the Quakers were losing the pennant at Philadelphia, Brooklyn was engaging in a slugging feat with the New York Giants. The Dodgers put up a great fight however and despite the erratic work of the infield, they pounded out enough safe singles to overcome it, and downed the Giants 9 to 6.

The teams saw-sawed back and forth for five innings. The batting of the Dodgers got so strong that Babe Horn was unable to stand up against it, and was replaced by Bill Perritt. The rangy twiler used everything he had and stopped to some extent the hammering of the Dodgers.

Robinson's first homeman, Sherrod Smith, found the Giant batters too much for his left-handed eyes and had to go home. Jeff Pfeffer was sent in and remained until the close.

The scores:

R. H. E.
Brooklyn..... 9 14 4
New York..... 3 11 2
Batteries—Smith, Pfeffer and Miller; Benton, Perritt and Harden.
